The Seventh International Congress
on AIDS in Asia and the Pacific

The Seventh International Congress on AIDS in Asia and the Pacific Decide Plenary and Topics

The Seventh International Congress on AIDS in Asia and the Pacific (7th ICAAP), a major gathering aimed at facilitating prevention and treatment of HIV/AIDS and promoting information sharing, will take place at the International Conference Center Kobe (ICCK) in Kobe, Japan from July 1 to 5.

The conference will gather people living with HIV/AIDS, scientific researchers, community activists, health professionals and government and international agency representatives, all of whom are united in the search for more effective strategies and increased political commitment to the problem of prevention and treatment in the Asia-Pacific region.

Participants will include individuals from a wide range of political, economic and socio-cultural fields, such as Mr. J.V.R. Prasada Rao (Joint United Nations Program on HIV/AIDS), Mr. Jim Yong Kim (Director of HIV, World Health Organization), Mr. Nimal Siripala De Silva (Minister of Healthcare, Nutrition and Uva Wellassa Development, Sri Lanka), and Prof. Hiroaki Mitsuya (Kumamoto University, Japan).

Distinguished guests included, but as many as 60 countries, such as China, India, Thailand and Cambodia, will be represented to further add to the color of the conference. Such individuals include people infected and affected by HIV/AIDS, representatives from vulnerable communities and health care specialists that are working on further prevention and effective treatments. Such participation and contributions by these individuals shall ultimately lead to the success of the 7th ICAAP.

Under the main theme "Bridging Science and Community," the congress will feature a plenary session followed by symposia organized under a variety of sessions each day. A total of 22 sessions will cover 90 topics, such as countermeasures for HIV/AIDS in Asia and the Pacific, cross-border strategies, prevention and treatment within communities and pressing challenges.

There will be 45 oral sessions (10-minute presentations followed by 5-minute discussions) on 270 topics. The sessions will be held under the five main themes of "Basic and Clinical Sciences," "Treatment, Care and Support," "Prevention and Epidemiology," "Culture, Gender and Sexual Issues" and "Political and Social Contexts." There will also be displays of some 1,500 posters.

Skills building workshops will provide opportunities to improve various skills that participants can apply to their daily work, such as practical techniques for prevention and treatment of HIV/AIDS, skills for effective running of community programs, and how NGOs can work with governments.

There will also be cultural programs (art, performances, etc. at congress venue and other sites in Kobe), Community Forum (Japanese NGOs, community workers and Seven Sisters coalition of regional networks will be meeting on the afternoon of July 1), Positive Forum (on the morning of July 1) and Youth Forum (for young people throughout the region). In addition, there will be exhibitions (for participating NGOs etc. and also commercial entities) and satellite meetings (to further specify mutual goals/interests among participants).

Recent estimated numbers of positive individuals are rapidly growing in the Asia-Pacific region, especially East Asia. UNAIDS reported that the number of positive people in East Asia rose 44.7% to approximately 1.1 million in 2004. It is the fastest growth rate in the world, exceeding that of East Europe and Central Asia (former Soviet Union and East European countries).

Infections have gradually increased in Japan as well, rising to 1,165 reported cases in 2004, the first time the number exceeded 1,000. It can be stated that the epidemic is on the increase in Japan and can no longer be ignored.

In this sense through sufficient discussions during the course of the 7th ICAAP, our announcements of the result of the congress should have a significant impact on Asia-Pacific countries including Japan.

The timing of the 7th ICAAP is significant, as it will immediately precede the G8 Summit in Scotland from July 6, and then the UN Millennium +5 Summit in September. Both meetings are expected to discuss the issue of HIV/AIDS because of its current global political, economic and socio-cultural impacts. In addition, results will be announced this year concerning targets set by the UN General Assembly Special Session on HIV/AIDS (UNGASS) in 2001 and the WHO and UNAIDS's "3 by 5" Initiative (to provide access to antiretroviral therapy for three million people living in low- or middle-income countries by the end of 2005), and the UN's Millennium Development Goals project's interim report will be issued.

Expectations are thus high for the 7th ICAAP to promote further initiatives for prevention and treatment in this landmark year.
